

Second Colo. horse may have EHV

A stablemate of a Colorado horse that was euthanized after developing neurologic symptoms associated with equine herpesvirus is also suspected of having the virus. State veterinarian Keith Roehr recommends horse owners closely monitor their animals for elevated temperature or other problems. Other horses that participated in National High School Rodeo and Colorado Junior Rodeo Association events in Henderson, Eagle and Rocky Ford, Colo., may have been exposed. Star-Tribune \(Casper, Wyo.\) \(tiered subscription model\)/The Associated Press (5/18